

What Is Prop 65?

In 1986, California passed Proposition 65 — commonly referred to as Prop 65. It is a right-to-know law that obligates companies to include warning messages with products that contain certain substances, including substances that naturally exist in the environment. You can view the list of substances on the California Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment website: <https://oehha.ca.gov/proposition-65/proposition-65-list>

The warning message is required even if the amount of the chemical in question is naturally occurring or well below the accepted safety threshold.

How Prop 65 Affects Our Products

Global Healing takes tremendous pride in the purity and safety of our products. We only use high-quality ingredients and have precise testing procedures and production standards. We use many herbs and other plants in our products, and it's normal for their soil to contain trace amounts of lead and other naturally-occurring substances. The FDA continuously monitors food composition and reports that many healthy, natural, organically grown fruits and vegetables contain trace amounts of lead and other elements.
